

Abstract of the Disclosure

A collapsible closet frame includes pillars, posts, first linking rod sets, second linking rod sets, third linking rod sets. The pillars are located at four corners of the closet. The posts are connected to the pillars in a sliding manner. The first linking rod sets and the second linking rod sets are connected with the pillars while the third linking rod sets are connected with the first linking rod sets. The second linking rod sets comprise cross bars which are hooked to the third linking rod set. The closet frame is easy to collapse for carrying and storage.